New Private Investment Setup

Issue Type: Portfolio & Investment Operations | Tasks: 247

Cluster Summary

The "New Private Investment Setup" task cluster, comprising 247 tasks, primarily focuses on setting up and recording new private investments for clients within the Family Office's portfolio. These tasks aim to solve the problem of accurately and efficiently tracking and managing private investments across various asset classes, including private equity, hedge funds, real estate, venture capital, and more. Common themes that emerge include the setup of new funds, investments, and vehicles, as well as the creation of investment records and entries for clients. The tasks frequently mention the use of platforms and systems such as Addepar, a reporting system, and potentially other portfolio management tools. The tasks also highlight the importance of accurately allocating investments to specific client portfolios, sleeves, or trusts. Overall, these tasks are crucial for maintaining accurate and up-to-date records of client investments, enabling effective portfolio management and reporting.

Issue Type: Client Reporting & Deliverables | Tasks: 71

Cluster Summary

The tasks in the "Investment Performance Analysis" cluster are focused on analyzing and reporting on the performance of client investment portfolios. These tasks aim to solve problems related to data accuracy, performance measurement, and reporting, ensuring that clients receive reliable and actionable insights. Common themes that emerge include calculating various return metrics (e.g., time-weighted return, IRR, net-of-fee returns), analyzing performance attribution, and reconciling discrepancies between different data sources. The tasks also involve preparing customized reports and presentations for clients, including quarterly performance attribution reports, year-over-year performance comparisons, and risk-adjusted return metrics. The platforms and systems mentioned include Addepar, a portfolio management and reporting platform, and custodian systems, which are used to retrieve and reconcile performance data. Overall, these tasks require a high degree of technical expertise in investment analysis and performance measurement, as well as attention to detail and strong communication skills to effectively present complex data insights to clients.

Common themes include regular reconciliations, audits, and reviews of client data, positions, and transactions, as well as monitoring of automated feeds and exception reports. The tasks involve multiple platforms and systems, including Addepar, custodian records, and internal systems for tracking client entities, contacts, and transactions. The tasks also cover compliance-related checks, such as account classifications and fee schedules. Overall, these tasks enable the firm to ensure the integrity of client data, maintain regulatory compliance, and provide accurate reporting and billing.
